VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITY:for Young Single Women ages 21-30, who would like to do significant volunteer work, might consider the St. Joseph Worker program in New Orleans. St. Joseph Workers serve people in poorer communities who are still suffering consequences of Hurricane Katrina. They provide successful applicants with room and board and a stipend for personal needs, and place them for 10 months (August – June) in health care, education, advocacy, social services, spirituality or community organizing positions serving diverse communities. Contact Sister Jackie Schmitz, CSJ, at jschmitz@csjoseph.org to request an application. Sisters of St. Joseph have served New Orleans people for more than a century. The need for community rehabilitation following Hurricane Katrina is still so great.
